PADLOCK ORDER HITS HOME OF AGNES VAUGHN

Court Closes Property In East Church Alley.

FIRST MOVE HERE

Law Also Invoked Against Homer Wyand's Place.

Property at 108 East Church alley, owned by Daniel R. Southall and occupied by Mrs. Agnes Vaughn, will be padlocked tomorrow by Chief of Police Hugh F. McDermott, as a result of an order issued yesterday afternoon by Judge W. F. Lones in common pleas court, Lisbon. This marked the first time the padlock law had been invoked here.

Arrested Eight Times

Mrs. Vaughn was notified today of the police plan, in order that she and roomers could vacate the place.

The order was asked by the city, represented by Solicitor Frank H. Hoover, as an aftermath of liquor raids on the Vaughn home.

Police say Mrs. Vaughn has been arrested eight times, four of the raids being made on the East Church alley property.

At the same time the city asked a similar order against Camilla Gallo, owner, and Homer Wyand, tenant, of property at 223 Broadway. A temporary restraining order has been granted as requested. No date has been set for a hearing.

Place Declared Nuisance. The court decree in the Vaughn case held a nuisance exists as related in the petition, and a temporary restraining order will continue in force until Southall, the property owner, shall give $1,000 bond. The costs in the case have been placed against the defendant.

The city's petition against Wyand, who operates a restaurant, alleges he has been convicted twice on liquor charges. The petition, filed July 16, also declares a nuisance existed there.

HOT in Chicago, but not as hot as in New York. The use that Chicago intelligence makes of its marvelous water front offsets the heat.

You ride for miles along Lake Michigan and see tens of thousands of men, women and children bathing, their numbers reminding you of photographs showing Hindus crowding in to the Holy Ganges River.

CHICAGOANS, however, are clean to begin with, and bathe in the clean water of Lake Michigan.

After the bath they walk to their houses and nobody arrests them. Chicago has an idea that lakes and parks belong to the people, not to any group of busybodies.

NOT content with improving the entire lake front in magnificent fashion, Chicago is building a road far out in the lake that will run from the Indiana State line on the south all the way north past Chicago's business district as far as Lake Forest. Later it will run, presumably, to the Wisconsin State line.

CHICAGO knows how to utilize her location on the lake. New York and other Eastern cities should come out here and learn how Chicago does things in half the time that the East would take to talk about them.

GREENVILLE, O., Aug. 1.—(INS)—A mother who was taking her first airplane ride with her student-pilot son, was instantly killed when a plane crashed from a height of 300 feet at the Lansdowne airfield near here today.

Mrs. Dorothy Kendall is the victim of her first flight. Her son, Dale, 20, who was piloting the plane escaped unhurt. Another woman passenger, Mrs. E. J. Swinger, was badly injured when the plane nose-dived into the ground.

Witnesses to the crash said that the son had apparently lost control of the ship as it began its upward climb. When told his mother was killed, Dale broke down and sobbed. He is in a highly nervous condition.

Eighteen Passengers and Stowaway Aboard as Giant Aircraft Speeds To Escape Storm.

ECKENER BOUND FOR LAKEHURST

Dirigible Leaves Hangar On Leg of First Commercial Air Jaunt Around World.

By OTTO D. TOLISCHUS, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Headed towards the Mediterranean coast, the Graf Zeppelin flew over Pierre-Latte this afternoon at 12:55 o'clock—6:55 a. m., East Liverpool time, said a dispatch from Pierre-Latte. This town is just north of Marseilles.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Aug. 1.—Speeding to escape a severe storm heading down from the English coast, the trans-Atlantic air liner Graf Zeppelin was on her way to Lakehurst, N. J., today, carrying 18 passengers and a stowaway on the first leg of the first commercial air jaunt around the world.

Reports received at the Zeppelin company's headquarters up to a late hour this morning indicated that all was well aboard the great dirigible, and that she was making good speed in her effort to beat out the storm.

Carries 666 Living Beings. The Zeppelin left her hangar on the shores of Lake Constance here today at 8:30 a. m. (9:39 p. m. Wednesday East Liverpool time). Aboard the huge ship was a known complement of 666 living beings, composed of two monkeys, two doves and 600 canaries from the Harz mountains, in addition to the passengers, the crew of 49 and the stowaway.

Belief that an aerial hitch-hiker was aboard the dirigible was expressed after a hurried search of the Zeppelin just before the start, failed to reveal any trace of a man who was seen to drop from the roof-beams of the hangar onto the top of the Graf, and disappear into a ventilator shaft. Aided by searchlights, members of the crew made a hasty search for the interloper, but he was not found aboard. However, the fact that no trace of him was found in the shed or grounds nearby after a search by the hangar guards, indicated the stowaway had succeeded in hiding himself some place in the network of great cross-beams which form the framework of the dirigible.

Starts Ahead of Schedule. The Graf Zeppelin started one minute ahead of her pre-ordained schedule as a result of the decision to take no chances on being caught in the heavy storm speeding from the English channel. The Zeppelin made a beautiful start, circling the airport once, and then heading due west over Lake Constance. Scores of searchlights illuminated the silver sides of the great craft, and while bands played "Deutschland Uber Alles" the Zeppelin glided away from Friedrichshafen, its passengers waving from the brilliantly-lighted cabin.

BOOTLEGGERS KILL INFORMER IN CLEVELAND

Gangland Exacts Revenge For "Tip Off" To Dry Agents.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 1.—(INS)—Leo Klein, alleged informer for federal law agents, was found shot and killed—apparently the victim of bootleggers—in his automobile which was parked in a private driveway today.

Klein's body, which was lying on the floor of his car wrapped in a tarpaulin, bore a knife gash and a bullet wound in his head.

Police described the killing as a gangland revenge, probably in payment for "tip-offs" furnished authorities by Klein.

Klein was reported to have been seen with two men late last night.

Police believe that these men are responsible for the slaying.

The man had been dead two or three hours before his body was found, police said.

Klein, according to reports, was the informer whose "tip-offs" resulted in the arrests of John Schlemmer, alleged rum-runner, and Samuel Cohen and his secretary, Miss Mary Ferrell.

The car in which Klein's body was found, was discovered parked in the private driveway of Marie Belle. A neighbor reported to police that it had been abandoned there early today.

During the recent presidential campaign, some one pasted a picture of Al Smith on the window of the Republican office.

The couple with Jones had a narrow escape from drowning but were rescued. Jones' motor boat upset, causing the third tragedy.

ONE IS EXCUSED

Visit to Scene of Co-ed Murder is Blamed.

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—Illness of a woman juror, Mrs. Helen E. Lunsford, today caused an unexpected halt of the trial of Dr. James H. Snook for the murder of Miss Theora Hix, pretty young co-ed. The juror suffered a severe hemorrhage at 3 o'clock this morning, and when court opened today the nurse in charge of the jury reported that she was physically unable to serve.

RECLINING CHAIR FOR DR. SNOOK

COURTROOM, COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 1.—A bright colored reclining beach chair was brought into court this afternoon for the use of Dr. James H. Snook who is on trial for the murder of Theora Hix. Snook is ill from the after-effects of a spinal fluid test.

When Snook lies on this chair this afternoon, listening to the prosecuting attorney denounce him in his opening address, his position will be somewhat analogous to that of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the so-called "pig woman" in the famous Hall-Mills case at Somerville, N. J., who testified while lying on a cot with nurses and doctors attending her.

Snook is suffering from severe headaches which leave him whenever he has opportunity to lie down.

"Murder Clothes" in Courtroom.

Judge Henry L. Scarlett ruled that her place be taken by Mrs. Harry Casady, the thirteenth, or emergency, juror, and then adjourned court until 1 o'clock this morning so that the veniremen could be brought into court for questioning in the selection of a new emergency juror to substitute for Mrs. Casady.

Mrs. Lunsford's illness came as a surprise and proved a bitter disappointment to the huge throng that had assembled to hear "Handsome Jack" Chester, young prosecuting attorney, deliver his opening address to the jury. Most of the spectators were women and girls.

The "murder clothes" had been brought into the courtroom and laid on a table beside the prosecutor. There was the blood-stained garment of Miss Hix, her handbag, her brown silk stockings and other articles. There, too, was a man's gray suit, wrapped up in a newspaper.

Prosecutor Chester was all set to make his opening address when Judge Scarlett announced, before the summoning the jury into the room, that he had received word that Mrs. Lunsford was ill.

Juror Suffers Hemorrhage. The judge summoned the woman bailiff assigned to the jury, Mrs. Mabel C. Weir, a nurse, into court and asked her to take the witness stand and describe Mrs. Lunsford's physical condition.

"Mrs. Lunsford suffered a bad hemorrhage at 3 o'clock this morning," said Mrs. Weir. "I don't think she will be able to serve on the jury. In fact, she told me she would be unable to do so. She was ill most of last night."

11-DAY CAMP MEET OPENS AT HOLLOW ROCK

Practically All of 90 Cottages are Occupied.

TRACT IMPROVED

A. K. Householder of Stratton President Of Association.

With practically all of the 90 cottages occupied the fifty-sixth annual 11-day camp meeting opened at Hollow Rock, near Wellsville, today.

For several weeks John Quinn, the caretaker, who lives upon the grounds, has been working hard to put the place in condition for visitors.

Grocery supplies are in charge of John Dunlevy, of New Cumberland, W. Va., at the Dennis dormitory. The camp meeting tabernacle, the dormitories and many of the cottages have electric lights. A new plant, installed by Dale Goddard of Stratton, is in charge of Vocal V. Williamson, also of Stratton. The generator was procured in Cleveland and the motor from Pittsburgh.

A cement walk, some 100 feet in length, has just been completed on one of the streets that lead to the tabernacle in front of the tabernacle.

New Cottages Erected.
A. K. Householder, of Stratton, is president of the Hollow Rock Camp Meeting association. For 22 years he has served as the head of the organization. He succeeded the late E. W. Cooper, of Toronto, thus the third executive since the meeting was formally directed as an interdenominational one. The first was the late Mr. Anderson, of Hammondsville, for whom the Anderson dormitory was named.

The newest of the three dormitories erected at the southern section of the plot just under what is known as Groaners' Hill was named for the late E. W. Cooper, of Toronto, and the Dennis hotel for the late Mr. Dennis. Thomas Hamilton of Sharon, Pa., is occupying his father's cottage just north of the tabernacle, which is perhaps the oldest now on the grounds.

There were two floods in different years which have brought damage to the Hollow Rock property, Hamilton said. "Some of the cottages, following a cloudburst, were partly and carried into the Ohio river."

"At another time, only the great strength of the tabernacle structure saved others from total destruction when they were carried against it. It cost about $700 at the time to repair the damage."

Bell on Tabernacle.
On this tabernacle at the present time is a former locomotive bell which was furnished by Wellsville railroad men.

For many years meetings were held in a tent on the grounds. It was a suggestion that Thomas Hamilton made in 1890 that resulted in the huge frame tabernacle on the grounds being erected in 1900.

"Until that day some 29 years ago now when $500 was raised for this tabernacle, no collection had ever been taken on the Hollow Rock grounds," Hamilton declared.

In addition to his activity as a devotee of the work during the camp meeting, Hamilton is a singer and a composer. Among his hymns are "I Am Determined to Hold Out," "Thirty Pieces of Silver; Something More Than Gold," and "How Much I Owe."

In connection with the second of these he remarked: "I am perhaps the only person who was ever written a song about Judas Iscariot. None ever names children for him."

Straw on Tabernacle Floor.
The tabernacle looms impressively by reason that it has been erected on the sturdy lines which were utilized when beams were pointed together. Lumber for it was sawed from the camp meeting grounds.

Straw has been placed over the floor and the seats in many instances are those taken from an old church. Wings in recent years have been added by which some additional 300 persons may be seated. Sides can be opened which will permit many in the cottages alongside to hear the services from their porches.

Places for more than 100 persons have been arranged on the large platform and singing will be a distinct feature of the meeting. The pulpit is a single post upon which is space sufficient for the holding of a copy of a large Bible.

Above the speaker's place on the rostrum for 29 years have hung on three separate boards the words "Holiness Unto the Lord" which represents the underlying purpose of those directing the services.

"The singular thing about this sign is that it was painted by a man so intoxicated at the time that I held him while he completed the work on it," said Hamilton. "It was done on wood donated by George Sitzer, of New Castle, Pa."

Just now Hamilton is painting sections of the tabernacle.

HOPE FALLS

Mrs. George Bromley, top, and George Bromley, below, of Victoria, B. C., parents of Lieut. Harold Bromley, have been helping their son prepare his attempted flight from Tacoma, Wash., to Tokio, Japan, only to see all their plans dashed to earth when his plane failed to lift the enormous load of gas when he tried to take off.

Bird Houses in Trees.
Bird houses of wood have been placed in trees in sections on the grounds for the accommodation of the numerous feathered variety that frequent the plot.

Cottages, in many instances, have cellarettes attached to them. They consist of a cemented bottom, about a yard square, and stone sides about three feet high. Flowers and plants are planted on them.

"Groaners' Hill" is kept in original simplicity, the winding pathway to it being also touched in its edges by the wilderness obtaining on the height which rises some 200 feet from the camp site level.

In front of the southern spring is a cement plot, under which is a sifter for the overflow of water, which the late Benjamin Barker, of East Liverpool, dug up.

Just of the cistern is a cement trough which now is never used. Roadways to Hollow Rock are in excellent condition.

Tabernacle Seats 2,000.
Mrs. Nannie Brown, of Avondale, street, East Liverpool, has charge of the dining room.

Miss Edwina Wilson, of East Liverpool, is the pianist. Prof. John Moore, of Pasadena, Calif., is soloist and in charge of the singing. Mrs. Edith Smith Mackey is the leader of the children's meetings and Miss Fannie Bradford, of Washington, Pa., has charge of the Young People's services and work.

The ministers during the meeting will be the Rev. C. W. Butler, president of the Cleveland Bible Institute, and the Rev. Bona and John Fleming, of Ashland, Ky.

The tabernacle will seat 2,000 persons.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause. But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit of ever increasing the dose."

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. Lar-kins, The Drug Man.—Adv.

Gift For City Hospital

Thanks to the generosity of East Liverpool district pottery manufacturers, business and professional men who always have been the first to respond whenever their services or money were needed to advance the interests of the community, a $60,000 improvement program is planned at the City Hospital.

Acting upon the suggestions of W. E. Wells, who, although he lives in Newell, W. Va., is looked upon as a resident of East Liverpool, $30,000 has been pledged the West Fifth street institution by 40 representative citizens. These contributions have been added to $20,000 received in gifts and bequests in bygone years, thus making up the major part of the building fund.

As a result, the hospital, handicapped by lack of funds in the past because its low rates and scanty help from taxation would not permit the accumulation of a surplus, will now be enlarged to meet the needs of the community. A two-story addition, housing a maternity department, laboratory and nurses' home, will be erected, while an electric elevator, X-ray machine and other equipment will be installed.

The improvements are part of the program which had been outlined by the trustees of the City Hospital association when they asked the electors last November to approve a tax levy. Defeat of the proposal at the polls prompted the voluntary contribution.

The people of the district owe a debt of thanks to Mr. Wells and fellow contributors who have been identified with every worthwhile movement in the East Liverpool district for more than a quarter of a century.

Prison Riots

The grapevine telegraph, that mysterious communication phenomenon of the prison world, was responsible for relay of the news of the prison riot at Clinton prison at Dannemora, N. Y., last week to the inmates of the Auburn State prison at Auburn, New York. More than 1,700 desperate men, fired by the news of the daring attempt of the Clinton prisoners, staged a vast drama, dependent on the perfection of every actor. There was a terrible climax, but the drama was a success as far as the prisoners were concerned. One class of society had struck a blow at another class and had almost gained the upper hand.

Two great prison riots occurring within such a short time bring the guarded criminal classes into slightly more attention than usual. The free bad man or woman gets plenty of publicity, but once confined in prison they seldom are made the subject of news. It is interesting for instance for citizens of the Buckeye state to know that Dannemora is called the Siberia of America. It is encouraging to know that the Ohio State penitentiary is not the only large prison operating under crowded conditions. It is rather startling to learn that confederates on the outside of the Auburn prison during the riot caused the guards, the town police, the fire department and the state troopers endless difficulty and did their best to make a wholesale delivery possible until guards had the situation well in hand.

Overcrowding is named as one of the major causes of the two rebellions. Dissatisfied, resentful men in solitary confinement can cause no serious disturbances, but when two men are crowded into a single cell, when cots are placed in the corridors, there is more opportunity to devise schemes. The fact that one prisoner was entrusted with the work of starting the Auburn riot and that his 1,700 fellows acting immediately upon his signal indicates the force of resentment which these socially ostracized people carry in their hearts. And, incidentally, it is a proof of the efficiency of the grapevine telegraph.

Prison reform stands helpless against such force and the ruthlessness of its manifestations when given an outlet. That portion of the earth's population which is kept in confinement for the public's safety is never content with its fate. It is an ever waiting, swift moving, desperate horde ready to swarm over the gray walls and strike back. It has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Human punishment and its consequences are great unsolved problems of civilization.

A Grocer Who Thought

The current number of the Nation's Business tells how a Los Angeles grocer utilized the traffic and parking problems of his home city, which are not unlike those of practically all American cities, to work to his personal advantage and bring him splendid financial return.

This merchant had found that traffic congestion in front of his place of business didn't mean anything which even so much as resembled congestion within his doors. In fact, he noted that the greater the congestion on the street, the fewer were the customers in his store.

The situation caused the grocer to do some thinking. He studied the proposition from all angles, and the outcome of his consideration was to lease a property where traffic was heaviest and recondition it so that motorists could drive into it from the street and leave it at the rear, where he installed an oil and service station, where they could take on gas and oil, if necessary, while they were doing their marketing.

The grocer wasn't modest about advertising the fact that he had solved the problem of parking his patrons' cars while they were securing their household supplies, and it wasn't long until he began to reap a golden harvest.

This Los Angeles grocer profited by thinking. He knew something was wrong, and he began to think out what the trouble was and seek an answer to it. He found what he believed was the solution, and was not afraid to get out of the beaten rut. He made the plunge, even against the advice of his friends, and profited by it. Others imitated him, but he had the jump on his competitors and retained his trade. There is something about the American people which causes them to prefer those who originate to those who follow the originators.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 1.—Even the more conservative Englishmen of the day are beginning to admit that the British Empire faces an epochal struggle for world supremacy in trade, a supremacy which she has enjoyed for many generations and which never had been threatened until the World War made so many drastic changes. With this realization there has been an increase in interest in the northern polar regions as a future avenue of commerce. This development has special interest for Americans because the United States has grown into a pretentious trade rival of Great Britain. British and American interests are so similar as to make them rivals but that very circumstance may bring them closer together because of the fact that Canada is a Dominion of Great Britain and Canada is of great importance in air traffic.

With this situation in view, the American Chamber of Commerce in London, a business organization having as members Americans doing business in British territory and Englishmen doing business here, has begun a special investigation of polar air traffic possibilities.

The central fact attracting these Anglo-American business men is that the biggest markets of the world are located on the northern hemisphere. No greater markets exist than the mutual markets comprised by the United States on the western hemisphere and the countries of western Europe. Study of the map shows that the shortest distance between any two points on the northern hemisphere which are more than 3000 miles apart is across the polar regions.

At first glance this statement appears extreme. But the reader may remember that in crossing the ocean steamships sail on the great circle; that is, they steer far to the northward of a straight line either eastward or westward. The nature of a sphere is such as to make the route tending to the north ward, a short cut. Observation of the lanes of the trans-Atlantic lines reveals that the ships go up to the neighborhood of Newfoundland while steamers from Asiatic ports to such American ports as Portland, Seattle, and even San Francisco, steer as far north as the Aleutian Islands.

The idea of utilizing the air as a highway of commerce cuts down old established bars so dramatically that it is difficult at once to grasp how the northern route simplifies trade. For example, the shortest distance from Chicago to London is across Canada and by way of Iceland. Commerce between Chicago and London is enormous. Indeed, the map will show that if you are flying from almost any city in the United States to London your route will take you across Canada.

The business men of England are examining the matter with the utmost seriousness. Cooperation of American interests is hoped for and that of Canada is taken for granted. There is expected to be a move made in the near future on the part of Great Britain to assert its rights to Wrangel Island which is just across the Bering Sea from Alaska. With Canada and American-owned Alaska on one side assuring an air right of way across the polar regions, it is deemed wise to make certain of this Asiatic island as having strategic importance at the other end of the circle. Russia lays claim to the territory but her rights have been disputed.

What mariners and geographers have thought concerning the navigation of the globe through the ages has changed many times. But for centuries the idea of a short cut to the Orient has been uppermost. It is interesting to note how old beliefs have held back geographical progress.

Every school boy knows with what difficulty Columbus induced his men to venture out across a sea which many believed would bring them to a fabulous jumping-off place. Even after the day of Columbus most mariners had an inadequate idea of the climatical balance of the earth. The mariners who had written records knew only the northern hemisphere. The belief was held that just as it grew colder the farther north one sailed so it would grow hotter the farther south one steered a course.

The most solid scientific comes up to a couple of decades ago declared that life could not possibly exist beyond certain definite points in the north but as the north polar regions have now been quite well traversed, it has been established that life in the air—that is, bird life—and in the water as well as on such icebound land as has been found, can be supported right up to and over the top of the earth.

So such theories as retarded the earlier mariners have once more been swept away. Promoters of the polar airways point out that even in temperate climates it is cold in the air at all seasons, once any sort of altitude is attained, and that therefore, cold weather should not deter exploitation of the arctic air lanes, especially in view of the relatively short distances to be traversed.

Ritzy Rosalie

The leaves of fashion are falling fast as Rosalie turns the pages of the latest style magazines. The symmetrical waffle was used as the inspiration of the newest weave in pique.

Rosalie is informed by the page devoted to sport dresses. The thought that "cleanliness is next to godliness" must have been uppermost in the minds of the designers of the new fall fabrics if the descriptions of their textures are an indication. Some are mentioned as being of velvety, soapy character while others are described as spongy. Suede-like finishes and duvety are also in line for fall. Reproductions of embroidery, laces, iridescent, and metallic designs are made possible through embossed printing which is now being done in this country. The process is successful on rayons, silks, linens, satins and woolsens.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—In Hollywood, a fellow is often gauged socially as well as financially by the size of his swimming pool. Most residential sites are selected solely for their adaptability in accommodating the expansive outdoor bath. It is the key stone of the movie mansion.

So far Tom Mix leads the pack with his two block long Roman pool with stately pillars and occupying the middle center of the Mix front yard. Its waters may be scented or completely emptied by pressing buttons at his bedside. The latter has often foiled crashing midnight bathing parties.

They cost from $10,000 to $50,000. Some are in delicate pink or blue tile and one has the face of its owner set in mosaic in the bottom. They are unbelievably magnificent not only from the streets but close up. At night they are flooded with softly tinted lights.

Bathing parties are a part of the Hollywood social eclat. Those at midnight are liveliest. There are floating rubber tables upon which butlers in bathing suits serve sandwiches and liquid refreshments. Jazz orchestras, too, often tread water while playing hot tunes.

In the old days they used to last until dawn with somebody dredged out and pumped with oxygen. But Hollywood grows circumspect. Its social leaders resent the Los Angeles sneering opprobrium of "motion picture society." This is a caste comparable to our "cane society" in New York.

Pot shooting a wife's friend as he goes over the back fence, veranda, gin guzzling and dope soirees have, of course, always been exaggerated in this community of get-rich-quickers yet there were enough to spread-argue the front pages. But Hollywood seems tamed, almost sedate, these days.

Among the show places of the movie stars most frequently pointed out by megaphonists of the yap wagons are the beach homes of Marion Davies at Santa Monica; Pickfair, the residence of Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford; the new palace of Harold Lloyd, and the green Buster Keaton palace with its tolling steps.

The quick descents in Hollywood are the epitome of tragedy. If one never pass the Wally Reid home without being befogged in depression.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

Not long ago I told you about the dangers which result from the absorption of body poisons. Why is it we overlook the importance of this subject?

I have no doubt that constipation is a far greater factor in disease production than is generally believed. It stands to reason that the presence in the body of a fermenting mass, must give rise to unpleasant symptoms.

Fortunately, the lining membrane of the lower bowel, the colon, is so constructed that absorption through its tissues is not great. But, in spite of this protective measure, happily provided by far seeing Nature, there is some invasion of the body by this route.

Not only is there direct absorption, but bacteria or germs find in the content of the colon just exactly the proper conditions for rapid growth. Ultimately these agents, possibly of disease, are taken up by the blood.

Once more we have occasion to be grateful to the Master Creator. By vision he has been made to filter out of the blood these poisons, whether they be chemical or bacterial.

But if their quantity and number are too great, the poor, overworked liver cannot handle them. Then they get into the general bloodstream and are carried to every part of the body.

Just what will happen then depends on chance and the resistance of the individual. We are confident, however, that rheumatism, heart disease and various of the so-called "degenerative diseases" may be traced to the evil effects of chronic constipation.

It is unwise to regard constipation as an unimportant condition. It is certainly as much a mistake to neglect the intestines as it is to neglect the teeth. Neither should be done.

Almost invariably constipation is the direct effect of wrong eating. A proper selection of foods will be likely to benefit any case.

Of course there are other factors. The walls of the intestines are largely muscular. These muscles are just as dependent on right living as are your other muscles.

Nobody need be told the importance of exercise, sunlight and the outdoor life as being capable of benefiting the general muscular system. They are just as important to the welfare of the intestinal muscles.

Think over what I have said today. Perhaps you, too, are among those neglecting the intestinal tract.

Answers To Health Queries.

R. B. Q.—What do you advise for shortness of breath?

A.—This may be due to a number of causes. Have a careful examination and then treatment can be prescribed.

Q.—What are the symptoms of writers' paralysis?

A.—Can same injure the general health of the one afflicted?

3.—If any, what cure is there or what can be done for relief?

A.—Stiffness of the fingers and difficulty in holding a pen or pencil.

2.—No, not necessarily.

3.—Discontinue writing for a while, and build up the general health.

M. B. Q.—What is the cause of an eruption on my arms and legs and sometimes on my body which looks like blisters? These blisters are very itchy at certain times.

A.—You are probably troubled with eczema. You should eat simple food, abstaining from starches, sugar and coffee. For other information send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

S. L. Q.—Should a baby's milk be boiled?

2.—When should baby have his orange juice?

A.—No. Fresh milk should be heated to 144 to 149 degrees and kept

Hollywood has many such stark monuments to those snatched from the heights. Just now a pathetic figure is the widow of a well known star who was left a half million. In two years she dissipated it in a riotous fling of extravagance. As I write she is nearing an accouchement and is a patient in the charity ward of a county hospital. Broke, beaten and discarded.

It is of unceasing interest to wait at the studio gate for film celebrities to depart in the evening. It is somewhat like stage stars leaving after the play. There is always a big circle standing in wide eyed expectancy and nearly all are natives of Hollywood where a movie star is and ever shall be the most interesting exhibit in the world.

Sunday morning offers another side of Hollywood. Everybody seems to go to church and most of them, quite naturally, are motion picture folk. Several of the big stars are church ushers and a big number not only attend the Sunday morning but the Wednesday evening services. At a tented revival a banner read: "Watch the Devil take it on teh chin!"

All Hollywood is on pins and needles as the result of the recent income tax exposures. Many turned innocent enough to a woman who was a real tax expert and were saved much money. Government foretellers nosed out startling discrepancies and indictments followed. Nobody seems to know what will happen next. One famous actor has suffered a complete nervous breakdown. He has made a huge fortune but if the government is upheld his assessments together with his fines and back interest will leave him insolvent. And that for one whose high income is for a few short years strikes Hollywood as being high-handed and ruthless. Just as it will the rest of the world.

Having named everything for movie stars—from soda waters to to apartment buildings—Hollywood is formulating a plan to have every one of its cinema celebrities—and honoring cinema celebrities—and won't that be perfectly dandy.

McLAGLEN COMEDY HIT AT CERAMIC

Victor McLaglen, giant of stature and mountain of mirth, is exhibiting a choice bit of film comedy at the Ceramic theater today in "Strong Boy." Victor is seen cast as a big, good-hearted and indolent baggage-smasher, in love with the little girl who tends the news stand in a railway depot. His ambition runs in low gear until his lady decides to take a hand in his affairs and make him amount to something. That's where you begin to get the shakes.

As Big Bill Bloss, McLaglen heeds her advice and proceeds to become entangled in everything and with everybody, from the Queen of Lisonia to the president of the railroad.

Leatrice Joy plays the leading feminine role and her piquant beauty and charm are shown to great advantage. Working hand in glove with the hero is a trinity of humorous geniuses of international repute, Slim Summerville, Clyde Cook and Tom Wilson.

Farrell MacDonald, who in the past has given many pleasant moments, is cast in a role which gives him wide scope in the matter of producing laughs. A competent group of supporting players, including Eulalie Jensen, Dolores Johnson, Kent Sanderson, Jack Pennick, David Torrence and Douglas Scott portray other roles.

MURDER MYSTERY AT AMERICAN

Something entirely new in the matter of murder mystery stories comes to the all-talking screen in "Thru Different Eyes," Fox Movietone production, which is the feature at the American theater.

The title is self-explanatory for the basic theme is the summary of a murder case as revealed through the eyes of a prosecutor, a defense lawyer and eventually a mysterious girl.

"Thru Different Eyes," based on the story by Milton Gropper, who also wrote the dialogue, in conjunction with Tom Barry.

SINGING, DANCING HIT AT STATE

Alice White, First National-Vita-phone star comes to the State theater today in her latest talking, singing and dancing offering, "Broadway Babies."

Miss White is energy and effervescence personified. She has been termed the Apostle of I. T., the Tired Business Man's Joy, and Exhibit A in the Exposition of Jazz.

In "Broadway Babies," another story of the Great White Way and life behind the scenes, Miss White has an ideal vehicle for her talents. It is declared. She plays one of a trio of hoofers—the others being Sally Eilers and Marion Byron—who try to lick the Big Town. Their experiences make up a story that has much interest and will appeal to everyone.

Mervyn LeRoy, a graduate of the vaudeville stage, directed "Broadway Babies," which is adapted from Jay Gelzer's famous story "Broadway Musketiers."

Charles Delaney, who played opposite Miss White in "Show Girl," is again her leading man, and the cast includes Bodil Rosing, Louis Nathaux, Maurice Black, Tommy Dugan and others.

Uprooting ferns and other plants growing in roads, lanes, stream banks or commons has been made a punishable offense in Berkshire, England.

After a honeymoon in lake cities, Mr. and Mrs. Wells will be at home to friends at 115 West Third street.

The bride is a graduate of the Clairton high school in the class of 1929. Mr. Wells, a graduate of the local high school in the class of 1925, is employed as assistant manager of the Allen Fruit market, St. Clair avenue.

Mrs. Paul Nellis, Smithfield street, visited in Pittsburgh, Wednesday.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

BY JOAN

Some thoughtful soul reminds us that there's no "paved roads to success" unless we do the paving. Well, who wants to pave this kind of weather?

Art is the world's oldest and most fascinating study. There are so many fields of work open to the person of artistic inclinations, but they require definite preparation. As I sat gazing at some lovely sketches in the inspiring little studio where Mrs. Harriet Anderson spends many hours I found myself wishing I could sketch as well as some of the very youngest pupils in the class. In larger cities we would pay $1.50 for exactly the same lesson as Mrs. Anderson is offering at fifty cents. Can you afford to miss such an unusual opportunity? Classes for adults and children. Call Main 965J.

Since the first day of the Clearance Sale at LEMMERS', dresses, suits, coats and hats have disappeared as if by magic. All remaining merchandise has been marked for the final clearance of all summer dresses and hats. There are smart sports suits and frocks you can wear late into the Fall season. Many of them marked far below cost. Probably you've had your eye on a very choice ensemble but felt the price was prohibitive. You'll jump with glee when you see the figure on its price tag now.

At the beach, for sports wear and with sleeveless afternoon and evening gowns. Sum'r Tan Make-Up is most becoming when worn with frocks in the pastel shades. After an application you can go in swimming with nary a worry about losing your Sunkiss. As the smart occasional make-up Max Factor's Sum'r Tan is regarded as the ideal make-up. Next time you visit the Carnahan Drug store, ask for a courtesy postcard, which entitles you to a complexion analysis and a make-up color chart from Max Factor himself, creator of make-up for leading screen stars.

When you've done all the odds and ends of things that must be attended to before going away to spend your vacation, when the luggage is packed and fastened securely, the children are packed in their respective stations and Dad and Mother have finally convinced each other that they turned out the gas under the hot water tank in everything. It's not then you give it any thought but WHEN you've traveled some fifty miles and the car has been spinning along in grand style, oh boy! that's when life seems glorious and you feel quite satisfied with yourself that things are running so smoothly, that you had the foresight to leave the car at Milliron's Grease Palace and have it properly lubricated. You realize the importance of using the best Motor-oils too. You're a most intelligent person. I'm proud of you.

How they do it for $1.00 and $1.50—we haven't the remotest idea—but anyway here they are, dozens of new ties in the most beautiful colors. So alluring is the neck-wear display in the window of the Richard C. Brian Hattershery that our curiosity was aroused and in we marched to examine them more closely. We find they are non-wrinklable as well as waterproof and we're still wondering how they can afford to sell them at such a price.

When you own a Frigidaire, you'll never find it difficult to find something really different to serve your guests. It will be very easy to gain the reputation of "hostess extraordinaire" for there's nothing as delectable or as appetizing as crisp, chilled salad or a delightful frozen dessert. Not only will these delicacies find favor with your guests but you'll enjoy serving them to the family. You will be impressed with the new models on display at The Crockery City Ice & Products Co. and you can buy the one of your choice on very convenient terms. You'll appreciate owning one these warm days. When you see all the tempting recipes in the little souvenir booklet, you'll want to try them immediately.

Member that gorgeous Karpen living room suite we raved over a couple weeks ago? Yes, the one we saw at The Frank Crock Co. Well, someone had the good judgment (almost said good fortune) but it was so reasonably priced it didn't require a fortune to buy it. It certainly was a beauty but there are several others, quite as sumptuous and they are now included in the August Sale. If you admire dramatic simplicity, lounging comfort and distinctive beauty, if you appreciate the guarantee against moth that accompanies each Karpen Mohair suite, then you'll lose no time in seeing them. Compare them with other suites you've seen. I can just hear you say, "I've never seen fine furniture so inexpensive."—Adv.

BE A SLOB, TAKE BOSS' WIFE, SATIRE ON ROGERS ORATION

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (INS) — Copies of the "be a slob, and run away with the boss' wife," the Ivy oration at Harvard university by Alan R. Blackburn, Jr., of Auburndale, Long Island, N. Y., a satire on the advice of Professor Robert E. Rogers, to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology seniors to "be a snob and marry the boss' daughter, not his stenographer," continued to be sought long after its delivery.

Here it is: "My dear friends, old graduates and young graduates, class of 1904, mothers and fathers, sweethearts and lovers, and those out of course, for years past the Ivy oration has been a thing of humor and triviality. But now life has become so complex and beset with difficulties for those going out into the world, that I have decided to make this oration serious. This will be the last of the great sermons you are to listen to during your graduation exercises, and is given by one best qualified to give it.

The Bald Truth. "Others of neighboring colleges have told the truth, the bald truth to graduating classes; it is high time that the Harvard man should hear it.

"My boy, my advice to you, in sickness and health, in happiness and in misery, wherever you go throughout this broad land and the lands beyond the sea, my advice to you is to be a slob. It is high time that the Harvard man learn the true road to success.

"How has technology gotten away with it all these years? Whence come those beautiful buildings that border the Charles? Those gorgeous machine shops, those famous Babylonian Hanging Gardens of marble and cement, situated on eight choice waterfront lots with unobstructed view of the water?

"How have they done it? By being slobs. By putting on a big front. My boy, eat heavily and you can put on a big front. Never mind the butter on your vest. The bigger the front, the more butter the better.

"Cultivate slobbishness. Wear your shirt inside out only when the outside becomes offensive to your own sensibilities. Never brush your teeth. Deliberately catch Hallitis.

A Real Sensation.

"Never buy shoe-trees until you get a pair of shoes with them. Never buy a pair of pants unless it comes with two legs. Some slobs use safety-pins, some use strings, but the true slob uses his education and depends upon the Einstein theory to defeat gravity and hold up his trousers. Imagine what a sensation such a man is in life.

"Be a slob. Don't go to Boston to hang around the lobby of the Ritz when you can pick up as many stray butts in front of the Waldorf. The slob never hurries, unless it be to get his legitimate seat in a subway-train before some unworthy old lady. Nobody takes more real comfort in life than he.

"Let me preach to you the gospel of being a slob. In driving your car through crowded sections, pay no attention to anything but your own affairs, and you will be surprised with the amount of murder you can

LEGGE, FEDERAL FARM BOARD HEAD, HAS WIDE FARMING EXPERIENCE

By Pierre John Huss, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO—Baseball and the movies have their czars, so why not agriculture. It becomes the most recent candidate for czar leadership with the creation and functioning of the Federal Farm Board, headed by Alexander H. Legge.

The new czar, a Chicagoan and ex-president of the International Harvester company, has passed his 65th birthday, but looks as young as his government salary in comparison to the former $100,000 check he drew annually. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 200 pounds and rates only seven lines in "Who's Who," but for a decade now he has been known as the "farmer's friend."

Describes by associates as a man of few words but with plenty of action, he is rated by them as outclassing even Calvin Coolidge in taciturnity. He is self-educated, with schooling limited to some years in elementary grades. Despite this, he is reputed to have the "finest economic brain in America today."

"Chic Mid-Summer Style"

PATTERN 1745

The Review 15c Practical Pattern

Long slender lines are achieved in the styling of this delightful frock which may be made with or without sleeve. The pointer bodice section and corresponding skirt yoke are unusually attractive and very new. The skirt pleats are cleverly held in place by a few rows of stitches.

Many fabrics suggest themselves for the development of Design 1745. Silk crepe, pongee, shantung, silk pique or radium may be used with equally lovely results. All white, a color or a print may be chosen.

Do you want to reduce carbon formation?
Use volatile gasoline..to avoid choking
Use an oil...free from harmful wax

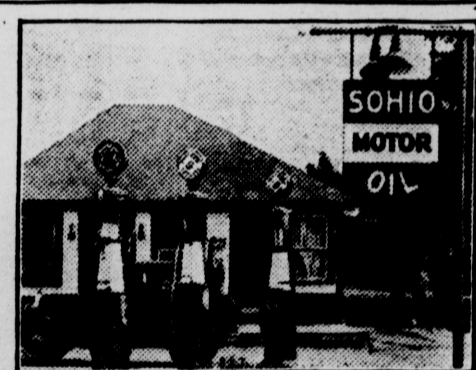

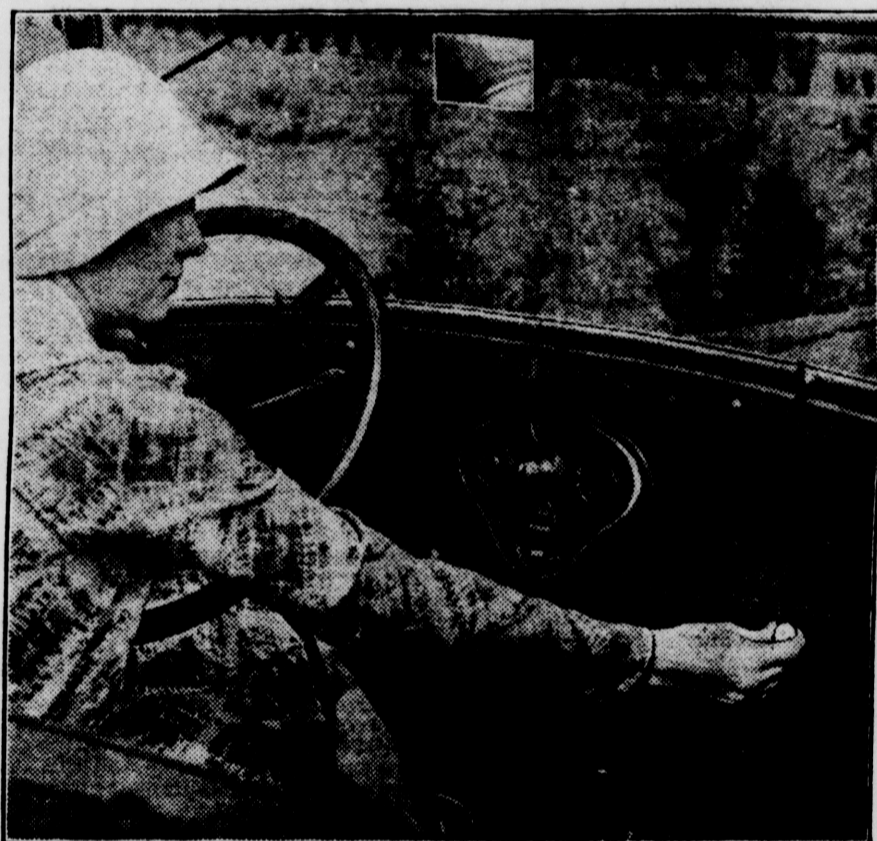

EXCESSIVE choking promotes carbon formation—avoid it whenever possible. With a volatile gasoline (such as Sohio Ethyl) most cars require little or no choking in warm weather. Use such a gasoline to reduce carbon.

Carbon forms more readily, too, when harmful wax is present in motor oil. Having no lubricating value, harmful wax leaves a thick, sticky deposit on cylinder walls and in combustion chambers—a ready base for carbon. Harmful wax thins out in heat and gums up in cold, increasing the tendency of an oil to "break down." It "lumps" within the oil and prevents the even, easy flow, so essential to perfect piston seal and complete lubrication at all temperatures.

New Sohio Motor Oil is free from harmful wax. By a new process, representing the first important change in motor oil manufacture in years, harmful, non-lubricating, carbon forming wax is eliminated. What remains is an all lubricant, 100% Paraffin base motor oil—New Sohio Motor Oil.

Use a volatile gasoline and leave your choke alone whenever possible. Drain and refill with New Sohio Motor Oil. Keep a close check on results—watch your carbon troubles diminish!

Because New Sohio is all lubricant, it does not readily "break down"—even under terrific driving temperatures. Notice how thick and oily your New Sohio remains at the end of a long, fast run.

"Life Saving Stations" many motorists on tour call such typical standard dealer pumps. 700 Red-White-and-Blue Standard Service Stations and thousands of dealers throughout Ohio make it easy for you to buy dependable Sohio products wherever you might happen to find yourself in the State.

ADVANCED NEW PROCESS REMOVES WAX AT 40° BELOW ZERO

Excess wax in motor oil causes trouble. Most manufacturers of good oils now de-wax by centrifugal action, employing the widely known principle of the farm cream separator. But the method used in the manufacture of Sohio Motor Oil performs this vital operation at the extreme temperature of 40° below zero, producing oil free from harmful wax. The results:

1. Little or no carbon
2. Flexible viscosity—perfect motor lubrication at all temperatures
3. Perfect piston seal—full power and least danger of oil dilution

ANNIE LAURIE'S TIMELY ADVICE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a married woman, twenty-five years old, and mother of three children. I got acquainted with a business man. Before we realized our deep friendship, we were in love with each other, and he begs me to leave my husband and go with him. Shall I break up my home for another man's love? Suppose I would go, do you think he would support me and my children, or do you think I should give him up? Although I think that would be impossible, as I have him constantly in my mind. Please give me advice what to do. I have no one to tell my trouble, so I turn to you.

RED ROSE.

RED ROSE: Aren't you a wee bit ashamed, Rose, to even entertain such a thought? Remember, you have your children to think of and their future. Put this man out of your mind immediately, for you are doing a grave injustice not alone to your husband and children, but to yourself. How do you know he would take care of your children? What right have you to deprive them of their father's love and guidance? For your own selfish whim you will make miserable their lives and your husband's. Think this over Rose, and then bend every effort toward making your home a brighter, happier place. Find so much to occupy you in your home and your children and your husband that thought of another won't have time to intrude themselves. You're doing something very wrong—committing a crime against society, to say nothing of flouting your marriage vows, if you take such a drastic step. Don't you want to keep the love and respect of your children? Of course you do, therefore I am sure that you won't do anything to make them ashamed and place yourself outside the pale of respectability.

SAND COMPANY BOOM REPAIRED

Derrick Boat Resumes Dredging Work at Georgetown.

Repairs to the giant boom of the Eastern Ohio Sand and Supply company, on the river front near the Newell bridge, which broke Friday, were completed yesterday. Inspection and necessary repairs were also made to the machinery of the derrick.

The derrick boat of the Dravo Construction company, Pittsburgh, which unloaded barges of sand and gravel at the Broadway wharf, while the boom was being repaired, was taken yesterday afternoon to Georgetown, Pa., where dredgings will be made below the gates of the Ohio river dam No. 7.

The Dravo company has received a contract from the Keystone Sand and Supply company for the construction of a fleet of eight flush deck barges with cargo boxes. The craft will be 135 feet in length, 30 feet wide, and 7.6 feet deep. The American Barge line is advertising for bids for 12 steel open barges of the standard Pittsburgh type, 175 feet long, 26 feet wide and 11 feet deep.

Captain R. C. McCullough, superintendent of the Ohio and Allegheny rivers, made an inspection yesterday of the repairs at Dam No. 9, New Cumberland, Pa. No. 8, here, and Dam No. 7, Midland.

The stages at noon today at Dam No. 8 were 15.7 feet in the upper pool and 9.4 feet in the lower pool.

The Senator Cordill will arrive here tonight, enroute to Cincinnati from Pittsburgh.

The Acorn, Ackard, Transporter, with a total load of 18 empty barges, passed here yesterday for Pittsburgh. The Old Reliable went to Weirton, W. Va., yesterday with 700 tons of pig iron in one barge.

Snook Juror III

"It was a hemorrhage of the lungs and quite serious. She said she is subject to these spells."

"How long do such spells last?" asked the court.

"She told me they usually last three or four weeks."

Seats Thirteenth Juror.

Prosecutor Chester, eager to start his opening address, advocated that the thirteenth juror be substituted for Mrs. Lunsford and that the trial proceed forthwith with only twelve jurors.

Judge Scarlett, however, indicated he was in doubt as to whether this procedure would be in strict accordance with the law. After consulting a law book, the judge decided to seat Mrs. Cassidy, the thirteenth juror, in place of Mrs. Lunsford who was excused from further jury service, and to proceed as soon as possible with the selection of another substitute juror.

However, the jury panel had been dismissed yesterday when the jury was completed, so no talesmen were available for immediate questioning. It was finally decided to adjourn court until 11 o'clock, by which time it was expected ten members of the last venire could be summoned to court for questioning.

The defense agreed to these plans, waiving any claims of alleged illegalities in this procedure.

Snook Wears Smoked Glasses.

Snook, wearing smoked glasses, sat at defense table listening to the attorneys discuss the latest developments in the case. He seemed pleased when court was adjourned, as it gave him further opportunity to rest. He has been in a weakened physical condition as a result of a spinal fluid test performed on him by Dr. H. M. Brundage last Saturday.

The slain girl's father, Prof. Melvin T. Hix, is ill, and he was not in court today. Neither was his wife, Mrs. Hix. Boyd B. Haddock, attorney for the Hixes, said that Hix's health had been impaired ever since he came to Columbus from Bradenton, Fla. After he had learned of the death of his daughter, and his condition has grown worse steadily.

"I have advised Prof. Hix to stay out of court as the constant reiteration of his daughter's name in the courtroom has a decided effect upon him emotionally," said Attorney Haddock. "Mrs. Hix, from time to time, if it is found expedient, may go into the courtroom, but as a rule she will remain with her husband."

Spectators Bring Lunches

Whether Mr. and Mrs. Hix will be subpoenaed as witnesses for the state has not been decided, according to Prosecutor Chester. That will depend largely upon whether or not Mrs. Helen Snook and Mrs. Abner Snook, wife and mother of the defendant, are called to testify in Snook's behalf.

The spectators remained in their seats during the adjournment of court, taking no chances on losing their places. Large crowds milled about in the corridors, eager for an opportunity to get inside. Some of the spectators brought their lunches and nibbled away at sandwiches during the recess.

Court was re-convened at 11:15 a. m. The jury was brought in.

Mrs. Lunsford, the ill juror, was supported by Nurse Weir as she slowly came into court with the other jurors and took her seat in the jury box.

"You were quite ill last night, I understand," said Judge Scarlett.

"Yes," Mrs. Lunsford replied.

"Do you think you could serve on this jury?"

"I do not believe I could," said Mrs. Lunsford weakly, she is a thin elderly woman, the wife of a telegraph operator.

Judge Scarlett dismissed her from the jury and instructed Mrs. Cassidy to take her place as juror No. 3.

Then the attorneys began questioning talesmen to obtain another thirteenth juror.

Newton L. Tracy New Juror.

Mrs. Lunsford drew her pay as juror at the clerk's window before she left the courtroom. Outside she was met by her husband, Charles Lunsford, a telegraph operator for the Hocking Valley railroad.

"I am dreadfully sorry I became ill," Mrs. Lunsford told International News Service. "The thing that did me

MINEOLA STAGES ENDURANCE TEST

MINEOLA, N. Y., August 1.—(INS.)—Another refueling endurance test is under way here today. The village of Caryl Place turned out as Ben Krinsky and two companions take turns keeping a motorcycle on the spin longer than any previous motorcycle. They have passed their 112th hour on the go to put their town on the map—with St. Louis.

POLICE BALK BANDIT JOB

Alleged Slayer Flees When Hamilton, O., Holdup Fails.

HAMILTON, O., Aug. 1.—(INS.)—The latest gangland escapade of Robert Zwick, alleged murderer and gunman, failed today when his attempt to rob the $43,000 payroll of the Motor Safe company here was frustrated by the timely arrival of police who had been "tipped off."

Zwick, in a touring car with four other men, were awaiting the arrival of the payroll car near the company office, when Joe Engel, an officer, recognized Zwick.

Meanwhile, five "flying squads" had been rushed to the plant and another squad was escorting the payroll truck. Zwick was manning a machine gun, according to Engel, who stated that he pulled his own gun in face of menacing repeater of Zwick's.

Police were "tipped off" while the truck was being loaded at the bank. Police arrived at the scene of Zwick's hideout, to see the rear of the gangster's automobile disappear down the road.

They gave chase, but lost the fleeing automobile at Wyoming, near Cincinnati.

Zwick was wanted for the murder of a College Hill policeman.

FOUR MEN HELD IN SHOOTING

Garfield Hale Wounded In Alleged Ohio Hi-jacking.

GALLIPOLIS, O., Aug. 1.—(INS.)—Four men are in the Meigs county jail at Pomeroy, and Garfield Hale, 24, of Bradbury, is in a critical condition in a hospital here today as the results of a shooting fray near Tuland, Meigs county, last night.

The serious wounding of Hale is said to have resulted from an alleged attempt to "hijack" a still, which authorities confiscated after the shooting.

Leo Clouse, according to police, admitted the shooting, but declared he had fired at Hale in self-defense. Hale's arm was almost torn loose by a shotgun charge, part of which penetrated his abdomen.

Clouse was jailed at Pomeroy, and Cesco Ashworth, Robert and Pearl Molden, Clouse's companions, were also taken into custody when police found a still on the property on which the shooting occurred.

FORMER PREMIER UNDERGOES KNIFE

PARIS, Aug. 1.—(INS.)—M. Raymond Poincare, former premier of France, was operated on successfully for prostate complications at 8:30 a. m. today.

The operation was performed by Dr. Marion, well-known French surgeon, assisted by Drs. Jossot and Boidin. The patient was reported doing well and resting as comfortably as could be expected.

GOLF CLUB KILLS OHIO REPAIRMAN

BELLAIRE, O., Aug. 1.—(INS.)—Funeral arrangements are being made here today for Charles Murray, 49, molder, who died at a hospital here yesterday as the result of an accident when he attempted to repair a golf club.

While fixing the club it became entangled in an emery wheel, and the wheel shattered, a piece striking Murray in the head, causing fatal injury.

up was standing at the scene of the murder at the rifle range yesterday. The sun was hot and I became very weak. I became worked up, too, by thinking of the various aspects of the case."

The first of the new venire examined, Mrs. Flora Hiles, was excused because she had formed an opinion as to the guilt or innocence of Snook.

The new thirteenth juror was accepted at 11:48 a. m. He is Newton L. Tracy, a railroad foreman. He was sworn in.

Judge Admonishes Jurors.

It was decided that the thirteenth juror would be taken to the scene of the slaying, and other places such as the Snook-Hix "love nest" during the noon recess, by one of the bailiffs. Both sides agreed to this plan.

Judge Scarlett, speaking to the jury, told them he had been informed that some one had yelled at them when they were at the murder scene yesterday.

An elderly man standing by the roadside had shouted to the jurors as they passed in automobiles:

"He ought to be hung!"

The judge warned the jurors that they must not pay any attention to the incident. He asked the jurors individually if they were in any way influenced by any outside influence and they all replied in the negative.

Before adjourning court until 1:30 this afternoon, the judge admonished the jurors not to discuss the case with any outsiders. He said they would be allowed to attend the theater, listen to the radio and read certain parts of newspapers but that they can not use the telephone. The jury retired to a local hotel where they ate luncheon in a body.

DR. HOBBS ASKS HOSPITAL AID

Appeal for Support at Kiwanis Club Luncheon.

Dr. W. A. Hobbs voiced an appeal for support of the City hospital at today's luncheon of the Kiwanis club in the grill room of the Travelers' hotel.

Discussing the $30,000 gift and the $60,000 improvement program planned by the hospital board of trustees, the physician declared that "the hospital must be sold to the public" before the institution would be supported by the people.

"The present hospital building is a fire-trap and should be replaced with a larger and modern fire-proof structure," he declared.

About 25 members attended the luncheon at which Dr. C. R. Larkins presided. Robert J. McElravy reported negotiations were under way for the chartering a river steamer to carry Kiwanians from this district to the Marietta convention during the latter part of September.

THIS city was burned down and rebuilt only yesterday. New York, after hundreds of years, has just decided to change the dirty, dreary shore of the East river to a wide highway.

And even then there will be no place where New York's 6,000,000 may bathe as people bathe in Chicago.

MUSSOLINI, who has celebrated his forty-sixth birthday, is described by Will Rogers as "one wise wop."

He might be more accurately described as the descendant of two nations. Romans and Italians, that have been building up will power for three thousand years.

A QUESTION that concerns Italians is: "What will happen when Mussolini disappears?"

You wouldn't like to live in the top story of a high building if you knew that sooner or later the foundation must be taken away.

HENRY FORD, born 20 years before Mussolini, celebrated his birthday Tuesday at work as usual. He told reporters: "There will be no slump in business while men give good work in return for good money."

TWO interesting types, 46-year-old Mussolini and 66-year-old Henry Ford, as far apart as the equator and the North Pole.

Mussolini is intense, domineering, terrific power in his chin, always sticking straight out; Ford quiet, thinking, his power in the top of his head, where imagination works. Ford's active life will probably outlive that of the man 20 years his junior.

FORD interests Americans past 50, proving that a man worth while can do his best work after 60.

It was after 60 that Ford, having achieved the greatest industrial success in the history of the world, and concluded the manufacture of 15,000,000 automobiles, junked overnight a plant that could have been sold for a billion of dollars, destroyed machinery that could have produced other millions of automobiles, and began the automobile business again from the ground up.

In the first 13 months he built 1,000,000 cars, in the next six months he built another 1,000,000 cars. Heaven only knows how many other millions he will build in the years ahead.

That is success after 60.

TWO young gentlemen in the air above St. Louis decided Tuesday that they had stayed away from home and loved ones long enough. They dropped this note:

"Put the refueler away. We will be down when the gas runs out."

They finally landed after more than 17 days aloft.

The men will earn more than $25,000 and their flight will discourage endurance flights for some time to come.

While they were circling above St. Louis, the men might have flown around the world three times. That is a demonstration of the endurance of the modern airplane engine.

ALL over this big country interest is about the same. Millions a day go to the movies, from Seattle to Miami. Chicago is happy because her Cubs are winning. The elevator man who doesn't know you, tells you "the Cubs won again," and smiles, although it is no water on his wheel.

WHEN POTTERY EXECUTIVES MET IN CANTON

Va., with the Taylor, Smith and Taylor China company; Charles W. Foreman of Canton, with the United Pottery company; Charles E. REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

By W. S. Cousins, International News Service Financial Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—The "bulge" in high-priced speculative favorites at the beginning of trading today carried General Electric, U. S. Steel, American Can, Brooklyn Union Gas and other active shares to the highest prices in history. Stocks were scarce around the opening of the session, according to brokers' reports and it required little buying demand to push up market values.

Wall Streets relief in the continuance of 5 1/2 per cent Bank of England rate lies in the fact that gold shipments from the other side will not be choked off while rates are held down. Good industrial news flowed into the speculative district from all quarters and traders threw away their timidity over money market conditions, even though the 10 per cent call loan rate was again put into effect.

General Electric made a new 4 1/2 point gain to start the day, selling at a new high at 282.

24 ARE NABBED ON RED DAY

No Serious Disorders Reported Among Communists.

By FRANK CHARLTON, International News Service Foreign News Editor.

Communists throughout the entire world observed International Red day with anti-war demonstrations.

Although violence had been threatened, especially in Central Europe, there had been no reports of serious disorders up to noon.

Twenty-four persons were arrested in the Paris district by French police, including the mayor and 10 councilors of the suburb of St. Denis, who were charged with attempted sedition.

There were outbreaks by youthful Chinese Communists at Shanghai but they were quelled by the police.

One thousand police, armed with machine guns, riot guns and small arms, were mobilized at Boston—the scene of the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti. Nineteen-year old Israel Pizer tried to make a Communist speech at Boston, but was arrested for obstructing traffic.

Communists announced that 40,000 persons would parade in New York city during the afternoon.

Heavy guards of police were on duty in Berlin, Vienna, Budapest, Sofia, Belgrade and other central European and Balkan cities to cope with threatened disorders.

Youths Fall Into 30-foot Air Shaft.

ONE IN HOSPITAL

One Man's Back Broken And Leg Paralyzed.

ROCHESTER, Pa., Aug. 1.—Interrupted during an alleged holdup and pursued by police, Thomas Cochran, 18, Rochester, and Joseph Bryarly, 17, Bridgewater, fell to the bottom of a 30-foot air shaft yesterday. Cochran is in the hospital here with his back broken and one leg paralyzed. Bryarly, who sustained minor lacerations and bruises, was arrested. He waived a hearing before Justice of the Peace E. B. Stiefel on a charge of breaking and entering and pointing firearms with intent to commit a felony, and was committed to jail at Beaver.

The same charge was preferred against Cochran by Chief of Police William Roth. Cochran and Bryarly entered the Hilltop Market, Adams street and New York avenue, pointed a gun at Mrs. Clyde Rote, wife of the proprietor, who was alone in the store, and demanded all money from the cash register, police say. Mrs. Rote screamed and the men fled.

Patrolman Robert Compton saw them running and gave chase. Running over the lawn at the home of Vernon J. Jones, Finney street, the two youths crashed through a wire fence and shrubbery at the rear of the property and fell into the air shaft. Firemen with the hook and ladder truck assisted the police in taking them from the shaft, where police also found a gun.

Itchy Eczema on Hands For Two Years. Cuticura Healed.

"My eczema started by little blisters breaking out on my fingers. Later it broke out in large patches that scaled over. When I scratched them they used to bleed and crack open. They itched very much and when I put my hands in water they became worse. I had the eczema about two years.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in a few days the eczema started to get better, and after using one cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Sylvia Viola Riffel, R. 1, Box 7A, Clinton, Mo., Feb. 20, 1929.

I want to tell you how
I coaxed him to eat—

If you are tired—lack pep—if your skin is not clear—if your appetite is "gone"—you owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S.

"Once I was worried.

Mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just "minced" at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was "slipping." What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from fresh vegetable drugs and would not harm the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the process by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

Rich, red blood builds sturdy health

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there could be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again, sleep soundly; firm flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong. Your nerves become steady.

S.S.S. is daily helping people regain their strength and charm. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It helps Nature build red-blood-cells. It gives to Nature what it needs in making you feel like yourself again.

All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical.

Loss of appetite only a symptom
It is a known fact that when one's system gets "run-down," they haven't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Road Adds 27,000 to Holders of Securities.

The stockholders' list of the Pennsylvania railroad today will be increased by approximately 27,000 employee holders. The last payments on stock subscribed by employees, to be paid for by monthly deductions from the payroll, will be deducted from the payrolls for the last half of July and the certificates issued some time in September.

The stock was sold to employees at par. It is understood that some of the employees are being solicited to sell their holdings in the company and invest in other stock of a more speculative nature. On this subject, A. J. County, vice president in charge of finance of the company, has made a statement to discourage this. He points out that the employees are receiving approximately 8 per cent per annum on their investment, and that the company stock is a safe investment. He also calls attention to the fact that employees are now part owners in the Pennsylvania railroad, and by being in the employ of the company are working for themselves. He issued a warning against purchase of speculative stock of questionable value.

There is a second class of employee subscribers, paying at a lower monthly rate, who will continue to pay by monthly payroll deductions on their stock.

SMOKERS CAUSE FOREST FIRES

ALBANY.—There were 618 forest fires in New York state, which swept over 19,412 acres, for the first six months of this year, according to the conservation commission.

Smokers, the commission said, caused a majority of the fires.

Air Views of Persia Boomed.
Seeing the Euphrates from the air is one of the inducements being offered by the new air service that connects Bagdad and Gaza. The management claims that in no other way can the beauties of the river and of Persia be fully appreciated. The view of the serpentine river at the time the "hind of the morning" struggles to break through, is unusual. As the sun finally bursts forth in all its glory, the stream takes on more and more the appearance of a snake, twisting and writhing, its skin a dazzling metal. A splendid view of the Dead Sea is also obtainable. The trip by air takes eight hours, compared with 40 days of travel by camel.

Fish Located by Sound.
By a new invention known as the "echo sounder," fishermen off the coast of England expect to increase their catches by "listening" for schools of the flinty tribe. In a recent test a trawler was able to keep in touch with the fish hundreds of fathoms below the surface. They were located at a depth of 1,200 feet and the fishermen were able to follow them and keep their nets at the right depth instead of wandering off into deeper water and losing the fish, as would have been done by old methods. The instrument records the depth of water to a maximum of 2,400 feet, and indicates changes in the depth at the rate of 192 feet to the minute.

WELLS, TEFFT BATTLE IN HALL MEMORIAL GOLF FINAL

Former Defends His Title

Fifty Local Golfers Invade Youngstown Today.

JOSEPH M. WELLS, who last year carried off the trophy in the annual Hall Memorial tournament at the East Liverpool Country club, will defend his honors in the final of this year's golf battle, which is scheduled to come to a close this week.

His opponent will be William Tefft and the coming tilt between the pair will be their first formal meeting in competition.

Tefft reached the final by disposing of J. T. Blue in the opening round, L. Wasbuck in the second and W. A. Betz in the semi-final, topping the latter by a score of two and one.

D. V. Kinnan, T. E. Lewis and R. T. Hall succumbed to Wells' shots in former state champion's bracket.

Blue and H. S. Russell are slated to compete for consolation honors.

Second flight competitors have also reached the final in which H. A. Smith and J. T. Hall will battle for top honors.

Smith reached the final by defeating M. W. Thompson, 6 and 4, while Hall qualified with a one-up victory over M. E. Blythe.

L. W. Smith placed as one of the contenders in the consolation final. Howard Moninger won from Colin Kinsey and plays C. H. Bailey for the right to meet Smith in the final.

Local golfers today pay a return visit to their rivals of the Tippecanoe club, Youngstown, whom they decisively defeated in an inter-club match here several weeks ago.

Approximately 50 members of the local club expect to take part in the Youngstown meet.

Joins Yanks

The Yankees pitching staff is slipping and no one knows it any better than Miller Huggins, the mite manager, who peeled some sheekies off the bankroll for the services of Ivy Paul Andrews, above, from the Mobile club of the Southern league. Andrews reported to the Yanks and will be given a chance to fill in in the box during the remainder of the season.

Detroit May Get Big Bout

Schmeling-Sharkey Scrap Heads Westward.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—On to Detroit! On to Detroit and, perforce, to Windsor, the domain of King George and the imperial quart. William H. Carey, head of the Madison Square Garden corporation, was riding into the west today to announce Detroit as the scene of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight in September and a voice from the grave was his prompter. It was to Detroit that the late Tex Rickard, had intended to go with his next big fight in the heavyweight division and, although fate gave him a fast count before this ambition could be realized, his idea didn't die with him.

It lives on today in the mind of his successor and fortunately so. Even when dead, Rickard still is right. I wouldn't care to go so far as to say that Detroit needs the fight. It doesn't. But the fight needs Detroit. One of the great boxing towns of America, it can and will be "fed" by surrounding cities like Chicago, Cleveland, Indianapolis, Columbus, Toledo, St. Louis, Milwaukee and Grand Rapids and, unless somebody is doing all of his thinking with his elbow, Navin field and its 63,000 capacity will sell out for the show. Detroit itself has a million and a half population, so if the fight goes wrong there, it simply will mean that it never was right in the first place.

Phillies Are Hardest Hitting Outfit Ever To Occupy Cellar Berth In National League

Klein, Hurst and O'Doul Three of the Best Home Run Hitters in Game.

By Les Conklin.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Burt Shotton, pilot of the Phillies, has assembled what probably is the hardest hitting outfit ever to occupy the cellar in the National league. Leading the league in batting, and possessing three of the best home-run hitters in the circuit in Klein, Hurst and O'Doul, the Quakers are trailing the field because they have a pitching staff that would make even a minor league manager blush with shame.

Time and again this season the Shottons have piled up a big lead only to lose by some such score as 13 to 12. When they get decent pitching the Baker bunch is a tough club to beat, as was illustrated yesterday when they trounced the slipping Pirates again, 6 to 2, with the aid of Pitcher Lou Koupal, recently acquired from Brooklyn.

Klein smacked his thirty-third homer, and Hurst contributed No. 22, which was his fifth in the last four games. Ervin Brame was the victim of both clouts.

Hack Wilson took second place in the home run derby by smiting his twenty-ninth and thirtieth as the Cubs trimmed the Braves, 6 to 3, after Boston had checked Chicago's winning streak of nine straight by taking the opener, 7 to 1. Socks Seibold, who was owned by the Windy City club last year, was the first pitcher to beat the Bruins during their present home stand.

The Cubs now enjoy a lead of five full games over the Pirates.

While Chicago's spurt was being checked, the Yankees stretched their string of wins to seven by murdering the White Sox, 16 to 2, combining Walsh and McKain for 17 hits, including Gehrig's twenty-sixth homer. The Sox couldn't touch Ed Wells, the Yank pitcher, after the second inning.

The Yankees' victory got them nowhere as Rube Walberg of the Athletics held Detroit to four hits while his mates landed on Owen Carroll for nine tallies in the fifth inning, winning 10 to 1.

But Their Pitching Staff Would Make Bush League Pilot Blush With Shame.

The Red Sox achieved a moral victory by dividing a double bill with Cleveland. Danny Macfayden blanked the Indians in the opener, 4 to 0, but Willis Hudlin hurled the Tribe to an easy win in the nightcap, 6 to 2.

Lefty Stewart of the Browns yielded only five singles against Washington, winning 5 to 1.

Allen's single in the eighth staked old Eppie Jeppa Alpha Omega Rixey of the Reds to a 2 to 1 decision over Joe Genewich of the Giants. The McGrawmen had won four straight.

Jess Haines of the Cardinals was in grand form and held Brooklyn to four hits, triumphing by a 5 to 2 count. Hallan pitched like a nervous wreck in the nightcap, however, walking ten men and making two wild pitches, and Lefty Clark of the Robins coasted to an 8 to 2 decision.

WHAT A REVOLUTION IT PROVED TO BE!

JULY 19 1924

"No ordinary standards of speed, power, and ease of riding, operating and upkeep cost, can be applied to the Chrysler. + +

This car compels so complete a revolution in all previous ideas of motor car performance and value, that you can comprehend its sensational results only through personal experience. + + True, it is built on fundamental engineering principles. But in the Chrysler these principles have been made to yield results heretofore unknown."

A BILLION-DOLLAR VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

The public has invested in Chrysler motor cars the staggering total of one billion, thirteen million, five hundred and forty-six thousand dollars—$1,013,546,000—in five years' time.

This amazing demand for Chrysler has been inseparably associated with public appreciation of the speed, power, beauty and long life of Chrysler cars.

Chrysler superiority has lifted Chrysler over the heads of long-established cars to its present lofty place in the industry.

The public appreciates the significance of Chrysler's unique engineering and manufacturing principle of Standardized Quality. It realizes that Chrysler's achievements in performance, in smartness, in comfort, in safety, in stamina, in long life, in quality and in value are possible only by virtue of that principle. That is why Chrysler has been awarded such unprecedented public preference.

Today, as five years ago, you can comprehend Chrysler's sensational results only through personal experience. We invite you to submit any Chrysler—"65" or "75"—to a demonstration.

CAMPBELL BOSS BATTER IN LOOP'S FIRST HALF

Springer Wins 7, Loses But 1, to Lead Pitchers

Although Schultz, first sacker of the K. T. K. club, established the remarkable hitting record of .617 in the first half of the Inter-City league race, the Potters' club figured in less than half of the games played in the first section of action and, as a result, Harold "Sap" Campbell, third sacker of the Chester News, first half champion, stands out as the boss batter of the circuit for that period of play.

Campbell performed in 13 contests, all but two of them, and clubbed out a mark of .447. He scored 11 runs, collected 11 singles, four doubles, a triple and a home run.

Tailing him closely are Bill Talbott of Wellsville with a mark of .444, just Earl Springer, Chester slab star, stands out as the premier fliker of the circuit for the opening half. Springer won seven of Chester's nine victories during the half and lost but one start.

Follock, starting with the Katics and finishing with Newell, won two and lost none, while Mundy of Wellsville capped three and dropped but one.

Don Stoffel also comes in for plenty of praise for his work in the box.

Stoffel was credited with decisions, one way or the other, in 10 contests. He won six and lost four. Only Springer places ahead of him in the number of innings pitched. Springer batted 62 frames while Stoffel worked in 58 2/3.

Stoffel, however, topped the strike-out artists, with a total of 37 to his credit, three more than Springer.

Bill Mundy, of Wellsville, pitched but four games but nevertheless breezed 28 opposing swatters.

"BIG GAME"

Story of a girl who thought love more powerful than society.

By Vida Hurst

"Miss Ruth's hair is light."
"There won't be much of it showing. We wear our masks until midnight, you see. And they've promised to have dim lights."

Several hours later Mona was gazing appreciatively at her own reflection.
Proud little head, with black hair, parted into satin smoothness, blue eyes, pert nose, and saucy, impudent lips. . . . But when she held the mask before her eyes it changed her entire expression. The gaiety of her features softened into wistfulness.

The curve of her mouth became mysterious—promising. . . .

"Dan will be crazy about me," she thought.
Dan's attractions were those of an older, admittedly dangerous man. Mona had known him for years but recently his attentions had become so marked that Johnnie Merrill, who accompanied Mona to the dance, felt compelled to remonstrate about it.

"See here Mona, this MacIntyre business has gone far enough."

"Is that a voice I hear bleating in the darkness?"
"Don't be funny," continued Johnnie sternly. "A man doesn't figure in two separate divorce scandals for no reason whatever."

"Don't you be an old woman, Johnnie. I'm not married."

"Better off if you were," mumbled Johnnie, fumbling for her hand.

Mona laughed.
"I will admit Dan's technique is more deadly than yours."

But as he turned reproachful eyes upon her she whispered, "However—I like you better, darling!"

Johnnie sighed, "Please tell me what your costume is. I can't see under that cape."

"I don't intend for you to see. Surely your fond and loving heart won't be deceived by a mere mask."

The three girls met in the dressing room as planned. The party was being given in the Flame Room at the Hotel Radisson. But when they entered together the butterflies were immediately separated. Mona was only able to catch glimpses of the other two between dances.

She was having a glorious time. Dan was there as a Turkish sultan. But when she recognized him, he was not sure of her.

He was dividing his interest between Mona and another girl, and there was a stranger in the costume of a Spanish dancer who had been pursuing Mona since 11 o'clock.

Something fascinating about the careless twist of his cape, the round, flat hat and his sweet, rather foreign-looking mouth.

"I know you," he whispered. "Don't tease me any longer. Speak to me. Say one word."

This Mona refused to do but she cuddled against his shoulder, with little shivers of excitement. They were near the door when midnight struck.

The lights flared up and the Spanish dancer drew Mona outside. Down the corridor behind heavy curtains, which concealed a stack of chairs.

"Kiss me!" he commanded.
What devil possessed her to lift her lips to his? The next instant she was clinging to him, shamelessly. Something had flamed between them.

"You've never kissed me like that before," he whispered.

Mona tore off her mask.

"Oh, I beg your pardon," he stammered. "I thought you were someone else."

To learn that the only kiss which had ever really thrilled her belonged to another girl was misfortune enough. But to suspect the other girl of being incapable of appreciating said kiss was absolutely unbearable.

For a moment Mona felt dizzy. Almost ill. Then a belated sense of humor rescued her.

"Don't get upset about it. Your secret shall perish with me."

The stranger removed his mask, disclosing keen, gray eyes.

"I'm not worried about that," he said, gallantly. "You see I thought you were the girl I am going to marry."

"Oh," Mona gasped, "you're Bruce!"

He nodded, smiling.

"But how did you get here? Mabel was broken-hearted about your telegram."

"I came by airplane," he explained. "I knew she'd be disappointed."

With the memory of the kiss between them, their gaze fell.

Mona said, "Well, I'd better be taking you back to her."

He said, "I hope you'll forgive me."

Without warning tears rushed into the girl's eyes, but she answered, flippantly, "What's a kiss to a butterfly?"

A moment later she was leading him through the ballroom crying. "Here's something for you, Mabel."

Hearing Mabel's shrill, "Why Bruce Berlon, where did you come from?"

It was ridiculous the way Mona's silly heart behaved. Threatening to choke her when Mabel, with an important, possessive manner, introduced Bruce as her property. But wasn't he? At this hour tomorrow he would be Mabel's husband.

How Mabel would rave if she knew what he had just confessed to her friend!

"You've never kissed me like that before. . . ."

"Don't be a complete idiot," Mona admonished herself, sternly. "You've been kissed before. And this wasn't any different from any of them."

Yet every motion the man made seemed achingly familiar to her. Even the inflections of his quiet voice and the twinkle in his gray green eyes roused the feeling of a commonly shared past.

How could a girl like Mabel, selfish to the core and as cold as a fish, bring a man like that to her feet? That he was at her feet was evident. He looked at her adoringly.

Dancing with Dan, responding half-unconsciously to his bantering love-making, Mona let her eyes follow the other couple.

If only she had never discovered how "sweet" Bruce could be. . . . Suddenly his gaze met hers. His smile was clear and friendly with no hint of a secret understanding.

It was evident they were to begin again as strangers. . . .

After all, poor Johnnie was the one who suffered. Mona was in high spirits until they re-entered her car. But when Johnnie attempted to put an insistent arm about her, she snapped, "Oh, leave me alone!"

"Why, what's the matter?"

"I do not choose to be pawed."

"And I don't care for you when you're trying to be smart."

"All right, then, check!"

The ride was finished in frigid silence. But when they arrived at Mona's home, the boy whispered, hopefully, "Mona, please!"

"You take entirely too much for granted," Mona answered, emphatically. "Because I let you kiss me once in a weak-minded moment is no sign you can do it whenever you happen to have the inclination."

"But I love you, Mona."

"I've heard that before," the girl retorted, cruelly. "And tonight, it doesn't seem to make any impression."

She swept up the steps and opened the door. What made her treat Johnnie like that? When she really liked him.

Now she would have to call him on the telephone and "explain." Their friendship had been one long series of outbursts and explanations.

Mona paused in the living room. Teddy, the parrot, was sleeping like a baby. Better not start him screeching.

She switched off the lights, but as she passed her father's door she saw the lamp burning beside his bed, which was undisturbed.

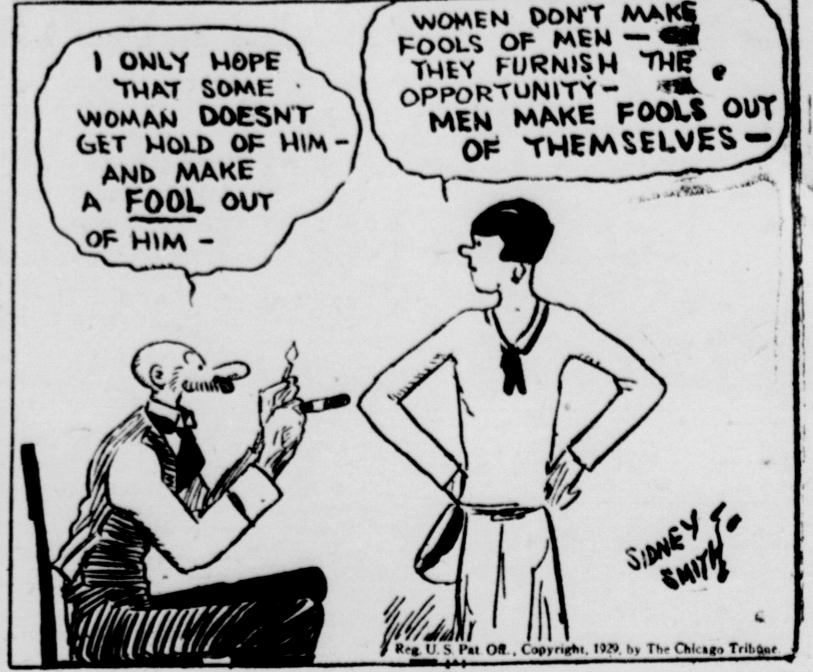

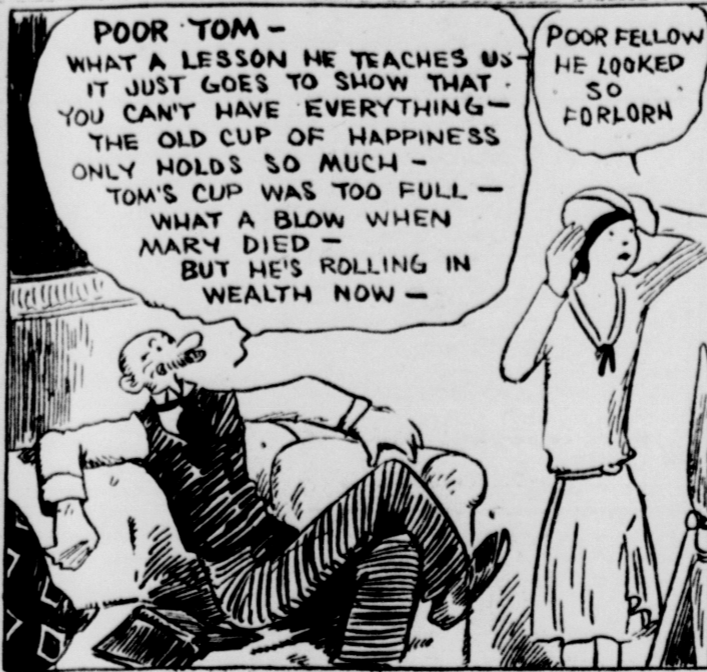

Joshua Darien was seldom at home. Unapproachable and taciturn on the occasions when he did honor the huge old house with his presence. No wonder her mother had written in her little red diary, "This place is stifling me. Sometimes I think I can't go on."

But Mona had known before she found that. She had heard the doctor say, "She didn't want to get well. It wasn't the attack of pneumonia that killed her."

Child though she was, Mona was too intelligent not to understand.

Mirror Year in Cooling.

After taking nearly a year to cool, a huge mirror has been made in Europe for a large reflecting telescope. Weighing more than a ton and a half, it is 69 inches in diameter and 10 inches thick. Discs of glass of this size are difficult to obtain free from flaws, and after the molten glass is poured into the mould it must be kept warm by electric heaters, and cooled down gradually over a period of many months.

ALLIANCE AIR SHOW AUG. 3-4

Lieut. Billy Leonard Plans to Execute Outside Loop.

ALLIANCE, O., Aug. 1.—Lieut. Billy Leonard, test pilot who recently joined the charmed circle of airmen who have done the outside loop, hopes to repeat the feat twice as an added thrill of the Legion-sponsored air show here August 3-4.

Only seven pilots have executed the outside loop, said to be the most difficult feat in aerial maneuver.

In order to make the loop, the airman must roar downward 200 miles an hour before starting the outside loop. At the bottom of the loop, he is hanging face downward against the safety rope and his motor is not feeding gas. A goodyear blimp, three tri-motored planes, a cabin ship similar in type to Col. Lindbergh's famous plane and the City of Cleveland refueling plane will be here, in addition to 40 stunt fliers.

The air circus will dedicate Alliance's new airport, just north of the city. Several adjoining farms have been leased to provide parking space for the air show throngs.

Brides and bridegrooms to be need not appear in person before municipal secretaries in securing marriage licenses as required by the new marriage law, according to Delim Jarp-nilla, attorney general of the Philippines.

3 Shows Saturday Night At 6, 8, 10.

Victor McLaglen in STRONG BOY

JOHN FORD production

with LEATRICE JOY CLYDE COOK

Simple love story, studded with farcical situations which revolve about a railroad newgirl attempting to infuse her baggageman with pep, personality and promotions. The star piles up situations with each new load of luggage, becomes a parcel clerk and checks everything from pearl necklaces to babies. A monkey nearly wrecks his career but provides a topsy-turvy, riotous melee which concludes with distinction, honors and marriage. A surprise ending with a tinge of mock-heroics in a train robbery.
